General Instructions

Who May Use Form WEC

A nonresident employee who performs services for an employer within Arizona may claim an exemption from Arizona income tax withholding providing the following two requirements are met:

1. The employee is a resident of, or domiciled in, one of the following states:

California, District of Columbia, Indiana, Oregon, or Virginia; AND

2. The employee is allowed a tax credit for income taxes paid to the employee's state of residency or domicile pursuant to ARS § 43-1096.

How to Claim an Exemption From Arizona Income Tax Withholding

The employee must complete Arizona Form WEC to claim an exemption from Arizona income tax withholding. Complete this form in duplicate and give the completed forms to your employer.

The employer must remit one copy of the Form WEC when the employer files Form A1-QRT, Arizona Quarterly Withholding Tax Return. The other copy is to be retained for the employer's records.

Does the Employee Have to File an Arizona Nonresident Individual Income Tax Return?

Although an employee may be exempt from Arizona income tax withholding, the employee may be required to file an Arizona nonresident individual income tax return (Form 140NR) if:

- 1. The employee's gross income is $15,000 or more; or
- 2. The employee's Arizona adjusted gross income is $5,500 or more if single, or married filing a separate return; or
- 3. The employee's Arizona adjusted gross income is $11,000 or more if married filing a joint return.

For purposes of the filing requirement, "gross income" is gross income as defined under the Internal Revenue Code less income included in gross income that is excluded from Arizona taxation.
